LOUISVILLE, April 29th, 1856. A number of your fellow-citizens of Lonisvill desire to express to you their high estimation of the valuable services you have rendered in de-fonse of the sound principles of civil and religious been the source of incalculable mischief to the interests of our city.

Many of those in whose hehalf we speak are largely concerned in the prosperity and commer-cial and manufacturing interests of Louisville; but they feel that her prosperity cannot be haped for until her citizens and municipal authorities mani-fest a thorough determination to seeme to persons and property an exemption from mob vic be punished, but that all the power of the city,

It is idle to invite capital, labor, and skill to Lonisville whilst the sad history of the past stands unrelieved by any adequate assurance that natural and constitutional rights and immunities shall be respected in the future. With an abiding confidence that the deep night of Lonisville degradation will ere long yield to brighter prospects, it is neither the part of wisdom or instice to conceal the truth or to deceive by fulse assurances.

The undersigned have been deputed to convey to you these sentiments, and to ask your accept-ance of the accompanying service of plate, as a testimenial of their high appreciation of your edi-

W. H. STOKES, JOHN GILL. LEVI TYLER, C. Q. ARMSTRONG, THORNTON, J. MONKS, EDWARD STOKES. THE REPLY.

GENTLEMEN: I must ask your indulgence, for I am not an fait in a response to such a com-pliment as this—one so much above my deserts. You must allow me to ascribe it to partial friends, and to the goodness of the cause, which is worthy of the highest regard. I have to'd Louisville the trnth; I expostulated with her in advance; I remonstrated against the proceedings I saw before no; I foretold the consequences, but I was unheeded.

It is the part of the faithful man to tell his friend the truth, not to tempt him into crime, and fatter him in his guilt to profit by his vices. This I have tried to do for Louisville. A few years ago her character stoot high, her credit was nusurpassed; but how is it now? Her name is a by-word all over the world. She must box her once proud head in guilt and shame. When-ever Louisville is named, men think of deeds of horror that make them shndder. Once a citizen of Louisville abroad felt proud of his home. It is not so now. So vitiated is opinlon here that murder, if the victim is a foreigner or Catholic, is egarded as a venial offense, perhaps a meritori-us action.

I value this demonstration, gentlemen, for it is a pledge that you will do what you can to redeem Louisville—our beloved home, the metropolis of our old cherished Commonwealth-not merely from party rule—that would be a small matter— but from misrale, from a bloody despotism. And we shall do it as sure as there is power in truti-as sure as Heaven rules. The cause is just and right, and must succeed. Louisville must be redoesned and placed in her former position, when the Constitution and laws of Kentucky shall be supreme, and all her citizens secured in the rights unrantoed to them.
I accept, gentlomen, with pride and pleasure this testimonial from the Democracy of Louisville, and shall cherish it in remembrance of esteemed friends, and of the cause of which it will remind Battle with the Indians!

We have just received intelligence from ont orrespondent at Fort Myers, of an engagement between the United States troops and the Indians. The warfare has now commenced in earnest, and will not prohably coase until the Indians are extorminated. Though insignificant in numbers, the Indians are well armed, and defended as they will be hy the dense thickets of the big Cypress Swamp, many lives must be lost before they can be subjected.

"FORT MYERS, April 12 "Last night at midnight au express arrived from Fort Deynaud with dispatches from Major Lawis Arnold, 2d artillery, in command of the troops perating in Big Cypress Swamp, reporting a gen ral engagement with the Indians. 'Ho was scouting with his command, consisting of about 108 men, when they were attacked on the 7th inet. by the Indians, estimated from 80 to 100 strong, who were lying in wait in a big cypress hammock, about half a mile from Billy's town," where the water was two feet deep. At first a ngle rifle-shot was fired, followed by a heavy volley, which was immediately returned. Four or five of our men were wounded, and one, ——Simms, of Company L, 2d Artillery, mortally; he died in fifteen minutes. The advanced guard, which was the one fired upon, then fell back n the column, when the Indians raised a vell and pened a fire on the whole column, so heavy that tould not have been made with less than from eventy to eighty riflee; but they evidently fired at random, for the only damage done was on can-teens, knapsacks, haversacks, &c. The troops then Billy's Town, and the rest to a oppress swamp on the right. Our men charged this cypress at arm, with shouts and harrahs, but when they got in. not an Indian was to be seen, though they saw hem distinctly enter it. After a short rost, during which poor Simms was buried, they moved toward Billy's Town, when a large number of the Indians were seen retreating east, in the direction of an adamoned village. This village was surrounded on all sides by a dense harmone account. skirmishing here ensued for some time. On a defense except in saying that the defense being made, the Indians retreated, until friends told a great many lies about him.

[From the St. Louis Republican, April 88th. From Kansas. IN CAMP AT LECOMPTON. Sunday Night, 9 o'olock, April 19, 1856. Failure to take the Prisoners-Return of the

Sheriff-Excitement-Order for U. S. Troops

-Prompt Action-Sundries. The sheriff and his posse returned to-day from awrence, without Wood; he was barrisaded in his house, and strongly guarded. They attempted to take one or two other prisoners, but were forci-bly prevented. While in Lawrence, the Sheriff and party were grouned at, hissed, threatened and commit an assault, so it is believed, that the natics might have an exense, however poor, to maltreat, perhaps to shoot all of them. They hate Jones, and would like to have a chance to ake his life in a row. After using all due means o arrest the prisoners, the party left and returned nonie about four o'clock. The question then on every body's lip 'what will the (lovernor do?" All was excitem Council after Council was held; men hurried to and fro; the Governor looked thoughtful; the Sec relar, seemed uneas; General Whitfield appeared determined: the settlers gathered in from their claims, and all were on tip-toe waiting for the news of what was to be done. Some wanted the Sheriff to summon a posse of two or three hand-red, who should go to Lawrence and take the pris-oners at all hazards; but happily wiser connsels prevailed, and it was agreed that the Governor uld issue a call for a small detachment of Uni ted States troops; and accordingly an express rider will start from here in a few momonts for Fort Leavenworth, with orders for Col. Summer to send mr29ddw1m on the detachment. The idea is this: the Abolionists refuse to acknowledge the anthority of the laws, although they premised to do so in order to save their necks in December, and writs are to opht in the hands of the Sheriff, not only for only but for all those who forcibly resented him from Jones, and they are to be taken with the aid of a small force, if it can be done, but to be taken if it requires all the Government troops in the l'erritory.

Since the action of the Governor has been made known, all is perfectly quiet; there is no excitemont, and no outbroak is now apprehended.

Mr. G. W. McKoun left about two hours ago, to ride all night, for Westport, on important husioses. This will be sent to Wostport by mail, to a friend who will put it on a steamer at Kansas lity. I will write whenever there is an oprtunity to send off a letter.

The unfortunate men are supposed to be som hree hundred yards from the month of the plt, and it is thought the passage is blocked nearly if not the entire distance, but at last accounts—late Sanday night—an immense number of people were on the ground at work, and the dirt for about haif the distance had been removed, and it was confidently expected that the buried men would be eached in time to save them alive. A SEDUCTION CASE.—About two years since a German physician, named George H. T. W. They soon became quite intimate, and frequently tode out together to enjoy the country air and scenery in the suburban towns.
